

Dr. Sharab, Bio:

Dr. Sharab is an assistant professor at the University of Kentucky, division of orthodontics. Dr. Sharab received her dental degree from Syria, then earned Master's degree in biomaterials and a fellowship in orthodontics from the State University of New York at Buffalo. She completed Master's degree of science and orthodontic training at the University of Kentucky. She is a diplomate American Board of Orthodontics and involved in various activities including clinical research, education and speaking in orthodontic meetings. She is a recipient of multiple awards from orthodontic and dental organizations including the AAO, the SAO , ADEA and the University of Kentucky.