

“The Boy With a Nike Swoosh On His Cheek – a Fresh Look At Paediatric Dento-facial Trauma”,

This presentation will take a different look at the familiar topic of paediatric trauma .
From the time a baby arrives into their ‘infant ‘ world till the time they leave adolescence and finally progress into their adult life ,our patients have to cope with the traumas of the modern world. These traumas can range across the full spectrum of human experience ,through birth , growth and development ,socialisation and of course accidents . The immediate and long term consequences of such trauma are discussed.
